TeamViewer Premium v10.34.39052 + Crack.exe.Q: How to pass an object to Wicket web component I have a Wicket web component that gets a class of UserInfo and print out some properties, and within that class I want to have some properties that need to be accessible to both the web component and the hosting application. How can I pass those properties to the web component or do I need to make them a part of the class rather than just public? This is the code from the web component: public class InviteItem extends WebComponent { private static final long serialVersionUID = -3955815043044203697L; private String userName; private String userEmail; private UserInfo userInfo; public InviteItem(String userName, String userEmail) { super(new WebMarkupContainer("item")); add(new Label("userName", userName)); add(new Label("userEmail", userEmail)); } } This is the WebComponent for the hosting application: @Component(immediate = true, rendererType = InviteItem.class) public class User
