There was a time when children were safe and happy going to school in our country. Now, I have observed that every morning, little children come to school with 'murdered' parents. The only common thing they share is that they were killed by their parents. Parents take out their anger on their children. This is not a matter of one or the other, but an extension of this – a blood feud has been established. I remember when I was about four or five, there was a neighbour who used to be a prime minister. One day, he was entertaining me and my mother. I asked him, 'Is it necessary to be a prime minister to be respected?' I was four and he was replying and thus to make him at ease, I said, 'Will you ask Mr. A, he used to be a prime minister.' When my mother got to know that I was asking about a prime minister, she too told my father that he was so silly. Unfortunately, even today I still hear such wise people talking. While some leaders behave with dignity and integrity in public, others treat the whole world and then themselves in a deplorable way. The most regrettable example of this is Prime Minister Modi. I am sure that he will get a 'kicking' for what he has done, but it will be worth it for the people of our country. He cannot be held accountable if the poor and the weak are killed in his name. He might be the prime minister of this country, but the people of our country have given him what he deserves. The society that he has created is not an acceptance of the virtues of a society, but a failure of his character. I do not think I have to remind our citizens that this is a campaign for government transparency and good governance. There are hardly any opportunities of meeting him except at his election rally. He has lived in the lap of luxury for a long time. He has been talking a lot about 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas', but he should be more serious about it than

The name xsaidcams is given to a group of user-made plug-ins for the well-known commercial CAD program xedit. These plug-ins add additional functions, such as the ability to connect to a 3D printer, to the program. Because of this, xedit is considered to be "bot". Also because of this bot, e some third-party companies and users have started to ban "x-saitcams" from using xedit. Thank you Savage has the "Buyer Beware" page. The page is under construction. What is artcam xd? New code for ART CAM is released as static binaries, you cannot put it into C:/Program Files. The ART CAM driver is as old as any 3rd party driver, and it does not work on Windows 10. And the same version will not work in other versions of Windows.
