The C-C motif chemokine ligand 2 (CCL2) and its receptor, C-C motif chemokine 2 receptor (CCR2-R), are involved in the chemoattraction of mononuclear cells. In this study, we assessed the distribution of CCL2 and CCR2-R in the male rat reproductive system. In situ hybridization studies revealed high levels of CCL2 and CCR2-R mRNAs in the epithelial cells lining the caput epididymides, the initial segment of the vas deferens and the tubules of the testis. CCL2 and CCR2-R mRNAs were also present in the epithelial cells lining the vas deferens, seminal vesicles, and accessory glands. In contrast, little CCL2 and CCR2-R transcripts were detected in the epithelial cells lining the distal tubules of the epididymis and the distal and proximal convoluted tubules of the kidney. These results suggest that CCL2 and CCR2-R are expressed in the male reproductive system and may play a role in the recruitment of inflammatory cells, particularly mononuclear cells, into the male reproductive system.

imagine, with many wondering how this could possibly work. Jeff and Matt discuss this happening right now, and making sense of what will happen in 2019. Still a few things up in the air. We discuss everything from the launching of the company to (maybe) meeting Adam Cole. It's more than likely possible as their match was filmed right before everything, but who would do that?

Other highlights include Finlay going to another promotion, something we don't really take lightly at all. that the court shall not, in passing on a motion for a new trial, allow the re-introduction of evidence which had been offered and received in evidence at the trial of the case, unless it be shown that the evidence offered in the bill of exceptions is not the same as that offered and received in evidence, or that the material facts have been enlarged upon by the bill of exceptions, or that something new and material to the case has been introduced in the bill of exceptions, which was not known and could not have been known to the defendant at the trial. (Citations.) "The purpose of the bill of exceptions is to present to the court for review questions which involve errors of law occurring during the trial. * * * * * [W]hen the sufficiency of the evidence offered in the bill of exceptions is challenged, the question for the court to decide is whether or not there is any substantial evidence in the record to support the verdict of the jury (citations)." We have examined the record and find that the evidence offered in the bill of exceptions conforms with the above rule and that there is substantial
