In addition to the long-standing argument between the university's conservative student group and the more libertarian-minded American Free University, there has been a constant flow of confrontations, sometimes violent, between Antifas, who have been organizing a campaign against fascism, and neo-Nazis, who openly espouse Nazism. In November, the campus was invaded by approximately three hundred and fifty neo-Nazi protesters. On December 8th, Antifas and Antifascistas will be gathering outside the now-closed Lennon Library at UC Davis to confront members of National Socialist Movement (NSM), a neo-Nazi organization. The NSM recently posted an open call for members on their website offering an all-out race war and claims that "civilized people" are "slaves" who are in need of slavery. Over the past three years, the NSM has organized numerous rallies, meetings and demonstrations in California and has taken the lead in organizing a movement called the National Socialist Movement. The organization has also been a major player in a web of local neo-Nazi groups that have sprung up across California and have been organizing rallies in the San Francisco Bay Area. Based on the event information, UC Davis has set up a web page dedicated to the upcoming Antifas action. The page is part of a two-part strategy in response to the NSM's presence on campus, which it has so far been "declaring a victory", as the web
