Instead of vilifying or whitewashing one of the sides, we must create space for what could not be stated at this time, even in this form. The quotes are completely omitted from their position, and all today's facts are findings of the same report, collected in the center of the operation as well as others, as a result of which a complete agreed conclusion was established between us and the resistance movement. We also emphasize that our operations are damaging primarily to the Liberal Party. In this report, we also mention the moderates, as was also stated in another document, as it is obvious that this is a crime against the dignity of each individual and the large community of liberal opposition. * The first part of this article uses those documents located in the center of operations that were determined by a common decision without prior approval from the Ministry of the Interior. These copies were received by us on the first day in the evening. Thus, it is not possible to carry out any verification of the conclusions made by this document before it was translated at a later time or its copies were possibly read by other members of the group. March 5-9, 1963 Individuals and organizations signed the Declaration of No Interference in Cuban Affairs, published in the second part of this report. 1. All persons belonging to or associated with any force, force or organization that promotes or assists efforts that promote or facilitate interference in the affairs of the island of Cuba or any other member, which is contrary to respect for the principles of independence, freedom and territorial integrity of Cuba and treaties. 2. All forces and organizations represented in this Declaration undertake to refrain from any involvement, including any form of cooperation with such forces and organizations that promote and assist it. Before the war between Paraguay and Argentina, Argentina supported armed intervention in each of the islands, and rebel forces attempted to seize communications at least twice. About 20 people died then, and almost 100 were injured. In July 1944, as a result of
