Tower of Guns (ToG) is a cyberpunk first-person shooter on Linux, Mac and Windows. The game continues the story of our protagonist Edward Diver, after our last adventure in Tower of Guns: Deathmatch released earlier this year. The sequel brings the cyberpunk world of the game to life, and asks players to get the job done... can you? You can buy Tower of Guns Soundtrack by clicking the link below to Linux Music, or by tapping the link below to Windows Music. To get your Tower of Guns Soundtrack via iTunes, head over to your Library on iTunes, then to the Purchases section, and scroll down to Tower of Guns. Simply right-click the track, and you'll be able to add the track to the Tower of Guns subfolder in your Library, just like the rest of the Linux Music and Windows Music tracks!Q: Omit losing characters when inserting string into list of strings I have a list of string of characters. I want to add a string into it, which the length of the longer string is shorter than the length of the list of strings. I want to be able to just use the.append() method and have it add the string at the end of the list. However, when I simply use the append() method, I lose one of the characters in the string (a space character). For instance, if the list of strings is ["34657", "8565", "87", "8866"] and the string to add is "1234", I want to end up with ["34657", "8565", "1234", "87", "8866"] Right now I just do this and it doesn't work: for i in range(0, len(s)): a = s[i] s.append(a) s[i] = "" This way works, but it's not pretty: s = [] for i in range(0, len(s)): if s[i]!= "": s[i] += s[i] else: s.append(s[i]) As an aside, is there a way to achieve the same thing without using any kind of indexing of an array? A:

One of my favorite days to wear a cape is Valentine's Day. (Yes, I can make an excuse for my affection of the holiday.) I have always considered myself an inclusive person. I consider myself fortunate to have met the two men who have had a huge impact in my life. My husband has been a wonderful step father to my step children and they have accepted him and love him as part of their family. When I introduced him to my children he was instantly like a brother to them and their relationship grew as quickly as their ages grew. My second and most recent husband was not able to accept or understand me and the very act of being married to me. (Yes, I had thought about telling him that I had cheated on him before we were married and the only reason I had married him was to show him that I would never cheat on him. Well, he believed that and still believes that.) Anyway, I married my current husband who was and still is one of the most kind hearted and self sacrificing men I have ever known. He is so loving and generous it is almost too much to take and I would like to go on and on with how wonderful and perfect he is. I will try to write about him later as I didn't want to drown you in praise. The reason I bring this up is because I was running and thinking about what a fantastic day of love was going to be. is a collection of samples that come from the various analog synthesizers that are used in the creation process of this album. This turbo version contains 58 Samples split into 16 Wav files (8 Wav's per instrument). The library contains 64 Sample Presets and includes two different Performance kits with midi and velocity controls. The total library is made up of eight unique synthesizers, including a FairlightCMI, MPC60, MPC3000 and the SAW4.Additionally, there are 60 original factory preset patches from this synthesizers and 11 royalty-free drum presets from MIDI Mapping machine and Fairlight. Some of the sounds from the Analog synths have been sampled at a closer proximity to their output. They were captured with the analog input selected as well. We feel that the close proximity gives the instrument a unique characteristic that blends smoothly with the analog synthesized instruments. These samples were mixed with care in order to keep the intentions of these instruments clearly. Some of the samples have been feathered and sumfilped to allow tweaking of their waveforms. Since many of them are short and repetitive, it was critical to bring the waveforms to a playable point in order to get a usable amount of usable samples. This is just a small taste of what is contained within this library. Please login and check out the details. There is an unbelievable amount of sound content here and tons of great studio use.The samples have been generously provided by sound designers from all over the world: Oscar Díaz Guabal, Chris Haugen, Ed Towns, Chris Landry, Yann Larchet, Emanuel Bartlett, Patrick Alsson, Joost van den Broeck, Chris Hoban, Marcos Fonseca, Simon Petchi, Michael Bock, Chris Bellot, Enrique Olivares, Ezio Giulianti, Marco Charras, Tomas Huron, Luis Hinojosa, Ken Kanode, Ren & Stimpy creator John Kricfalusi and many more!
