Q: Cloudwatch data parsing I'm using cloudwatch to get network utilization details for my circuit. I have some data being pushed out to cloudwatch via lambda. For example, it will push out data for network change on day 1, and only have data pushed out on day 2 when the activity has changed. How do i schedule data to be pushed out to cloudwatch on interval without polling the data for every interval? Is there an API that i can poll cloudwatch and get the data? EDIT: The data set is rather large and i would like to make it as fast as possible by pushing the data to cloudwatch. A: First check here CloudWatch Logs Streaming API. Either of below methods will work.
