“Our goal is to give players a deeper understanding of the game,” said Kylian Mbappe. “You are given the opportunity to see these 22 players physically interact within the game in an authentic way and realize that their actions are just as much of a player's performance.” FIFA Ultimate Team is one of the most popular modes in FIFA 22, with the addition of a new "Greedy algorithm" which lets players craft more intense formations in order to unlock multiple tiers of virtual cards. This new algorithm also rewards players for progression with higher-level teams such as our iconic European sides, including Barcelona, Bayern Munich, Manchester City and Chelsea. The new Greedy algorithm also enhances the ability to uncover hidden gems in packs, more realistic formations and rewards bonuses for player attributes. New Live Transfers and Roles allow the user to have greater control over their transfer activities. Live Transfers allows the user to see and deal with situations like bonuses that are based on the current transfer market, while Roles can take on the role of a transfer consultant, a manager or a director. Lastly, the FIFA Ultimate Team experience continues to be enhanced with the introduction of the Transfer Market, a new set of in-game upgrades that can be purchased through progression and microtransactions. The Transfer Market also includes new players to discover, such as Luka Modric, Ross Barkley, Callum Hudson-Odoi and a host of other new Premier League players in this year's FIFA 22 player pool. FIFA 22 will be available on the Xbox One console in October. PC players can play demo versions of the game starting next week. · FIFA Ultimate Team Will Reward Players For Progress With New 'Greedy' Algorithm · Here's A First Look At FIFA 22's 'New' Ambiance (FIFA, EA SPORTS) REDMOND, Wash. - Aug. 4, 2019 - Electronic Arts Inc.
