Pulp Mill, Walsall Pulp Mill, Walsall is a Grade II listed corn mill at the edge of town in Walsall, West Midlands, England. It is of brick construction and is a circular building with two storeys of windows, the upper storey with four lights. History Built around 1780 in the Gothic style, this building provided a total of 90 sacks of pulp waste per day. The mill was unable to compete against imports from the continent and fell out of business around 1880. It was converted to a tea and beer warehouse in about 1910. It was used by West Midlands Electricity Board as a warehouse after closure in 1996. It is a Grade II* listed building, with English Heritage noting that although its long period of closure has "damper-staved the architecture to some extent, it remains a remarkable survivor of an industrial zone to the south of Walsall town centre". The game is the American release of the annual professional football video game, Pro Evolution Soccer. It has been produced for several consoles, including the Nintendo Entertainment System, Super Nintendo Entertainment System, Sega Genesis, Sega Mega-CD, Sega Game Gear, Sony PlayStation, Microsoft Xbox, and later PC, PlayStation 2, and PSP. The series includes several sports game modes, including international football leagues; national leagues; an arcade mode; soccer modes, including the UEFA Champions League, UEFA Cup, FIFA World Cup, UEFA Euro, CONCACAF Champions League, US Open Cup, UEFA Intertoto Cup, and FIFA Club World Cup; the Breakthrough Mode; and the Career Mode. Besides the actual play of the sport, many video games in the series also feature a large array of game modes and gameplay modes, including FIFA Soccer Championships, Tournament mode, Online Seasons (in FIFA Ultimate Team mode), Training Mode, League Management, Kick Off, and a series of online options. There have been four major game versions since the very first game, back in 1993: FIFA 94, FIFA 95, FIFA 96, and FIFA 99. The series has spawned a number of different game spinoffs, known as "FIFA-branded" games, such as FIFA Street, FIFA Street 2, FIFA Street 3, FIFA Street 4, FIFA Street Racing, FIFA Street 2, FIFA Street 3, FIFA Street 4, and FIFA Street 5. Gameplay FIFA has a number of gameplay modes and features, including single player, arcade mode, team play and multiplayer matches, turn-based gameplay, squad management, gameplay variations, such as 3D, simulation, and arcade play, and a wealth of mini-games and stadiums. The gameplay is comparable to Pro Evolution Soccer, though there are a number of features which make FIFA unique. Campaigns The story mode in the game is a story-driven game made up of thirteen "episodes" with various objectives to accomplish, from simple ones to complex ones. Some are centered around real-world clubs, others feature fictional teams, and others on fictional locations. The present invention relates to a method and a device for forming and using the so-called return-means connector. With the presently known methods and devices for forming and using return-means connectors, in the course of the forming operation the bending operation is carried out solely by the material hardness of the respective connectors, wherein a great effort must be made for adjusting the exact form required for the connector. Such a method and such a device are disclosed in the DE-OS 35 12 127. In the teaching of this publication, a mandrel is provided with a slotted hole, a mandrel is inserted into a slot of the receptacle element, and the forces occurring during the formation of the connector are opposed by the jaws of the mandrel. By means of an axially parallel displacement, a bending operation is thus provided. In order to maintain the exact form, the jaws or the mandrel at its forward end is provided with an approximately square configuration. In order to ensure the exact form, the jaws at their forward end must be chosen with rather large dimensions in order to reliably hold up the material flow. This arrangement is not suitable for mass production, however. The method and
