What's new:

quest Monster Hunter: Rise of the Tomb Raider The major summary battle, where Hallstatt, Glauboth, Kristof, and Hengskull are killed. Revelation: Underground Storm the second battle, where Pendle, Theling, and Blackbeard are killed. Scenario The last of the three named scenarios which can be played after the Major summary battle. Protector of Hyrkin Named summary battle Paalu'j the Viking Combat Choosing a fight will bring up a list of monsters looking for a fight. Many of these have different abilities, attack patterns, or stat values and you will need to use your own judgement (or better, options - see the menu) to pick a strategy that works best for this. Objectives Objectives can be set which define what needs to be done by the player: Defeat the monster Initiate a "tripartite" attack (i.e. all enemies wounded) Keep a condition intact (NPE) Defeat the monster and get a set item Keep 30, 50, and 70 percent stats intact Come back alive Press hotkey to trigger stat updates Retrieve items Item choices Icon description Description Chakos Tolde 1 Chakos as a non-physical attacker Choosing a Chakos will turn the player into a physical attacker that will be on-par with the other two monsters' stats relative to the class. Dyaks and Bots Dyaks Tolde 2 The best physical attacker, but has a short range compared to the other two Fighting these requires some dexterity, so a magic user with weaker melee skills is able to survive Automaton Mad Scientist Tolde 1+ A powerful melee attacker; somehow gets more effective at close range High stamina, but the area that the machine attacks is limited to the field Celan Hengskull Hengskull is the first true melee attacker. It has a strong defence but is weaker in all other stats. The -2 to EPE and HP are necessary for getting through the Iron Golems alive Pachacuti Blackbeard
