Set in a world about 300 years in the future, "Karisvale" has taken place. In this world, there are no more humans, but three races: Humans, Dark Elves and Humans with special potentials. A dystopian world where the only hope is the future of hope - the three races will have to band together to fight against their common enemy. Karisvale is an indie sci-fi/fantasy story done in 2D graphics in the style of Yu Suzuki's legendary Macross series. You take control of Emma, a special child who was left alone to fend for herself in the forest. What awaits her is either a calling to adventure or an opportunity to explore her otherworldly powers. What's new in Noyah: Corrupted Memories:

A Hope For a Lasting Settlement
Granada now is the centre of widening conflict. The US took 135 mortars from the Emir in January then removed them in February. It introduced 251 automatic weapons and 42,000 bullets, and nine squadrons of drones. Now from one flank there is a new war in southern Spain, though conflict reawakens deep divisions inside the country. On 6 February the Greek, Italian, Romanian and Spanish governments arrested Maimed Al Tabahi in Spain, charging him with offences under their arms laws. But the war that Al Tabahi started was raging six weeks before that. Two months after the Israeli army commenced its offensive in Gaza and two months after Israel took down the World Summit's agenda, millions of Palestinians around the world were still watching these images, witnessing the second attack in two years on the infrastructure of the Palestinian people that killed 540 Palestinian civilians. The Palestinians have seen film of the attack on the Great Mosque in the Jenin refugee camp that killed close to 80 people, and they have seen more. They felt next to nothing. Desolate, bewildered, isolated, helpless and powerless, they saw soldiers from the Red Cross stand watching. Generals and colonels proffer truths about the occupation, and there is also truthful rage. But they feel nothing. The second Israeli attack on the Palestinian people has left the great majority of Palestinians lying among the debris of their houses—they did not bury them out of ethical or moral laziness, they buried them out of dispassion, anger and rage. It is a form of justice for the murder of 39 Palestinians as they came out to gather firewood on the roofs of their houses in the West Bank. It is justice for the home destroyed by the second Israeli attack in an east Bethlehem refugee camp. And it is justice for the destruction of the burial places of so many children left to die in Aida refugee camp, in a Muslim cemetery in Hebron or the mosque in the village of Tantura. The latest attack will look very different from the one that provoked a shift in the intensity of the Palestinian resistance and caused a generation gap. For the past ten years, after the Hamas victory in 2006, the focus was on the issue of arms. The Israeli military machine lost 160 armoured vehicles to its enemies in the past years—hundreds of millions of dollars were spent designing, manufacturing and launching different models of missiles and tanks. Now they launched the drones and used them to blow up homes, villages

C2P FAQ (About):

Can I get crack files for the CrackC2P Wizard?

Note: Currently we do not support the crack upload process, so use at your own risk.

The crack files do not work due to the Beta Mode for loading and saving rom files if you want to use ROM/GXB. To use ROM you need to start the game in Safe Mode with Networking and select the Retcon/Power Off File Server and ROM Name Codes. Then load the game

The other files work in all normal modes for ROM/GXB loading, savegames and bootstrapping/character selection/etc.

What Happened?

The Vista Issue: We couldn't load the created crack from the game so the files would not load and the crack utility itself will not work. They are working well on XP though.
