numbers from a string I have a question about extracting certain numbers from strings in Matlab. How can I extract two numbers from a string? I want to extract numbers before and after a certain character. For example, I want to extract a1 and a7 from a1a7a7a1a7a7a1. I'm not familiar with regex in Matlab. A: The more generic way to accomplish what you want would be to use matlab functions like strsplit to break the string into an array, then use regexp to search for the specific parts you want. strsplit('a1a7a7a1a7a7a1', 'a') The result would be the following array of strings: ans = a1 a7 a7 a1 You can then use regexp to extract the parts you want: regexp(ans, '([0-9]+)', 'match') ans = a1 a7 a7 a1 The first element would be the first element of the string, and the second element would be the second element. You can then take this array, convert the elements to 0cc13bf012
