Roblox is a free online virtual world creation platform and game engine, where anyone can create a game or web site and play it on Roblox.com. Additionally, the Roblox game creation platform enables players to join game sessions of any others in a virtual playground, thereby sharing their gaming experiences and creativity. Design and programming the games, tools and websites is easy. Simply drag game objects onto the canvas. Make your game move, rotate, scale, and animate your game objects using JavaScript, GLSL, Java, CSS, Lua, Python, LUA, LuaJIT, SQL, and PHP. Users can also extend their Roblox gameplay using community created game engines, such as Bloxels and the iBloxels user interface. If you want to develop multi-user games, we have the SDKs and APIs to empower other developers to create multi-user-platform games. We have over 14 million users in more than 147 countries, and we process about 6 TB of data every day. To learn more about how Roblox developers can create the most popular games in the world, visit the Developer Portal. Work With Us: We are looking for experienced web developers to join our team.
