Hearthstone Deck Tracker Arena Helper: A Guide for Beginners

If you are a fan of Hearthstone, you might have heard of or tried the game mode called Arena. In Arena, you draft a deck of 30 cards from a random pool of cards and then play against other players until you lose three times or win 12 times. Arena is a fun and challenging way to test your skills and knowledge of the game, as well as to earn rewards such as gold, dust, cards, and packs.

However, Arena can also be daunting and frustrating for beginners, as there are many factors to consider when drafting and playing. You need to know which cards are good, which cards synergize well, which cards counter your opponents, and how to play around their secrets and strategies. You also need to keep track of your deck, your opponent's hand, and your win rate.

Fortunately, there are tools that can help you with all these aspects of Arena. One of them is Hearthstone Deck Tracker, a free app that helps you play like the pros. Another one is Arena Helper, a plugin for Hearthstone Deck Tracker that helps you draft better Arena decks by showing you card values from a tier list. In this guide, we will explain what these tools are, how to download and install them, how to use them together, and how to improve your Arena performance with them.

What is Arena Helper?

Arena Helper is a plugin for Hearthstone Deck Tracker that helps you draft better Arena decks by showing you card values from a tier list. A tier list is a ranking of cards based on their power level and usefulness in Arena. The higher the tier, the better the card. Arena Helper uses the tier list from <https://www.heartharena.com/>, a website that provides you with expert advice and tools for Arena.

Arena Helper works by detecting when you start an Arena run and showing you an overlay with the tier scores of each card in your draft. You can use these scores as a reference to help you choose the best card for your deck. You can also see additional information about each card, such as its synergies, counters, and comments from HearthArena's team of experts.

Features and benefits of using Arena Helper

Using Arena Helper can help you improve your drafting skills in many ways. Some of the benefits are:

- You can draft faster and easier by having a clear indication of which card is better than the others. You don't have to waste time or mental energy trying to compare cards or remember their values.
- You can draft smarter and more consistently by following the advice from HearthArena's experts. You can learn from their insights and tips on how to build a balanced and cohesive deck that suits your class and playstyle.
- You can draft more confidently and creatively by having access to more information about each card. You can see how each card fits into your deck, how it interacts with other cards, and how it performs in different situations.
