How to choose the right presets for your track

One of the advantages of using Vandalism Sounds â Shocking Deep House For Serum 3 (SERUM) is that you have a wide range of presets to choose from. However, this can also be overwhelming if you don't know where to start. Here are some tips to help you select the right presets for your track:

- Think about the mood and vibe you want to create. Do you want a dark and moody track or a bright and uplifting one? Do you want a smooth and chilled track or a bouncy and energetic one? Choose presets that match your vision.
- Think about the structure and arrangement of your track. Do you want a simple and minimal track or a complex and layered one? Do you want a lot of variation and movement or a steady and consistent groove? Choose presets that suit your style.
- Think about the genre and subgenre of your track. Do you want a classic deep house sound or a modern and fresh one? Do you want to follow the trends or create your own? Choose presets that fit your genre.

Of course, you don't have to stick to one preset for each element of your track. You can mix and match different presets to create unique and original sounds. You can also tweak and modify the presets to make them your own. The key is to experiment and have fun!

How to layer and mix the sounds

Once you have chosen the presets for your track, you need to layer and mix them properly to create a balanced and harmonious sound. Here are some tips to help you layer and mix the sounds from Vandalism Sounds â Shocking Deep House For Serum 3 (SERUM):

- Use EQ to cut out unwanted frequencies and boost the ones that enhance the sound. For example, you can cut out the low end of the leads and plucks to make room for the bass, and boost the high end of the pads and FX to add some brightness and air.
- Use compression to control the dynamics and level of the sounds. For example, you can use compression to make the bass more punchy and consistent, and to make the leads and plucks more smooth and even.
- Use reverb and delay to add some depth and space to the sounds. For example, you can use reverb to create a sense of ambience and atmosphere, and delay to create some movement and rhythm.
- Use panning and stereo width to create some separation and width in the sounds. For example, you can pan some of the leads and plucks slightly left or right to create some stereo interest, and use stereo width to make some of the pads and FX more spacious and wide.

Remember to keep it simple and subtle. You don't want to overdo it with too much processing or effects. You want to enhance the sounds, not overpower them. The goal is to create a clear and cohesive mix that showcases the quality of the presets.
