- It is entertaining and humorous. You will enjoy the graphics and animations of the game. You will also laugh at the witty dialogues and comments of the customers and the narrator.

How to play Good Pizza, Great Pizza

Fulfill pizza orders from customers

The main gameplay of Good Pizza, Great Pizza involves fulfilling pizza orders from customers who visit your shop. Each customer will have a specific request for their pizza such as the size (small or large), the crust (thin or thick), the sauce (red or white), the cheese (regular or extra), and the toppings (one or more). You will have to listen carefully to their order and tap on the corresponding ingredients on the screen. You can also ask them to repeat their order or clarify their request if you are not sure. You will then have to drag the pizza to the oven and wait for it to bake. You can adjust the temperature and the timer of the oven to avoid overcooking or undercooking the pizza. Once the pizza is done, you will have to cut it into slices according to the customer's preference (usually four or eight slices). You will then have to serve the pizza to the customer and collect your payment. You will earn more money and tips if you make the pizza exactly as the customer ordered and if you are fast and efficient. You will lose money and reputation if you make mistakes or if you are slow and rude.

Upgrade your restaurant with new toppings, decor and equipment

As you play Good Pizza, Great Pizza, you will be able to upgrade your restaurant with new toppings, decor and equipment. You will need to spend money to buy these upgrades, which will help you improve your service and attract more customers. You can access the upgrade menu by tapping on the shop icon on the top right corner of the screen. Here are some of the upgrades you can buy:

- Toppings: You can buy new toppings such as bacon, ham, chicken, spinach, broccoli, pineapple, jalapenos, and more. Each topping has a different cost and popularity among customers. You can also unlock special toppings such as gold, candy, and rainbow by completing certain achievements.
- Decor: You can buy new decor items such as posters, tables, chairs, plants, lamps, rugs, and more. Each decor item has a different effect on your restaurant's ambiance and customer satisfaction. You can also unlock special decor items such as a disco ball, a jukebox, and a statue by completing certain achievements.
- Equipment: You can buy new equipment such as oven, cutter, sauce dispenser, cheese dispenser, topping dispenser, and more. Each equipment has a different function and quality that affects your pizza making process. You can also unlock special equipment such as a laser cutter, a jet oven, and a robot arm by completing certain achievements.

Compete against your pizza rival, Alicante

In Good Pizza, Great Pizza, you will have to compete against your pizza rival, Alicante, who runs a pizza shop across the street from yours. Alicante is a snobby and arrogant pizza maker who thinks he is better than you. He will often challenge you to pizza contests where you have to make more pizzas than him in a limited time. He will also try to sabotage your business by spreading rumors about your pizzas or stealing your customers. You will have to prove him wrong by making better pizzas than him and earning more money and reputation. You will also have to complete certain story missions where you have to face Alicante in different scenarios such as a TV show, a festival, or a court trial.

Tips and tricks for Good Pizza, Great Pizza

Pay attention to customer preferences and personalities

One of the most important aspects of Good Pizza, Great Pizza is to pay attention to customer preferences and personalities. Each customer has a different taste and expectation for their pizza order. Some customers are easy-going and flexible while others are picky and demanding. Some customers are friendly and polite while others are rude and impatient. Some customers are regulars who visit your shop often while others are newbies who need more guidance. You will have to adapt your service and communication style according to each customer's profile. Here are some tips on how to deal with different types of customers:

- Easy-going customers: These customers are not very specific about their pizza order and are happy with whatever you make for them. They are usually satisfied with simple pizzas with few toppings. They are also generous with their tips and compliments. You should make their pizzas quickly and efficiently without wasting too much time or resources.
- Picky customers: These customers are very specific about their pizza order and expect you to make it exactly as they want it. They are usually unhappy with complex pizzas with too many toppings. They are also stingy with their tips and complaints. You should make their pizzas carefully and accurately without making any mistakes or deviations.
- Friendly customers: These customers are polite and respectful towards you and your pizzas. They are usually open to suggestions and feedback from you. They are also loyal to your shop and visit it often. You should make their pizzas with care and quality without compromising on taste or presentation.
- Rude customers: These customers are impolite and disrespectful towards you and your pizzas. They are usually impatient and demanding and want their pizzas as fast as possible. They are also ungrateful and rude to your shop and other customers. You should make their pizzas quickly and efficiently without wasting too much time or resources. You should also avoid arguing or confronting them and try to keep your cool.
- Regular customers: These customers are familiar with your shop and your pizzas. They usually have a favorite pizza order that they repeat every time they visit. They are also supportive and helpful to your business and give you useful feedback and advice. You should make their pizzas consistently and reliably without changing or disappointing them. You should also appreciate and reward them for their loyalty and trust.
- Newbie customers: These customers are new to your shop and your pizzas. They usually need more guidance and explanation about your menu and your service. They are also curious and adventurous and want to try different pizzas and toppings. You should make their pizzas with care and quality without confusing or overwhelming them. You should also educate and inform them about your pizzas and your shop.

Use the right amount of sauce, cheese and toppings

Another important aspect of Good Pizza, Great Pizza is to use the right amount of sauce, cheese and toppings for each pizza order. Each ingredient has a different cost, quantity and effect on the pizza's taste, appearance and customer satisfaction. You will have to balance these factors to make the best pizzas possible. Here are some tips on how to use sauce, cheese and toppings:

- Sauce: Sauce is the base layer of the pizza that adds flavor and moisture to the crust. You can choose between red sauce (tomato-based) or white sauce (cream-based) depending on the customer's request or preference. You will have to spread the sauce evenly over the crust using the sauce dispenser. You will have to use enough sauce to cover the crust but not too much that it makes the pizza soggy or drippy.
- Cheese: Cheese is the second layer of the pizza that adds texture and richness to the sauce. You can choose between regular cheese or extra cheese depending on the customer's request or preference. You will have to sprinkle the cheese evenly over the sauce using the cheese dispenser. You will have to use enough cheese to cover the sauce but not too much that it makes the pizza greasy or heavy.
- Toppings: Toppings are the final layer of the pizza that adds variety and personality to the cheese. You can choose from a range of toppings such as pepperoni, sausage, onions, mushrooms, olives, pineapple, anchovies, and more depending on the customer's request or preference. You will have to place the toppings evenly over the cheese using the topping dispenser. You will have to use enough toppings to satisfy the customer but not too much that it makes the pizza crowded or unbalanced.

Keep an eye on your oven and timer

The last step of making pizzas in Good Pizza, Great Pizza is to bake them in the oven. The oven is a crucial tool that affects the quality and outcome of your pizzas. You will have to monitor your oven and timer carefully to avoid burning or undercooking your pizzas. Here are some tips on how to use your oven and timer:

- Oven: The oven is where you place your pizzas to bake them until they are ready. You can adjust the temperature of the oven by tapping on the plus or minus buttons on the screen. The higher the temperature, the faster the pizza will bake but also the higher the risk of burning it. The lower the temperature, the slower the pizza will bake but also the lower the risk of burning it. You will have to find the optimal temperature for each pizza order depending on the size, crust, sauce, cheese and toppings. You can also upgrade your oven to increase its capacity, speed and efficiency.
- Timer: The timer is where you set the time for how long you want to bake your pizzas. You can adjust the time by tapping on the plus or minus buttons on the screen. The longer the time, the more cooked the pizza will be but also the more likely it will burn. The shorter the time, the less cooked the pizza will be but also the more likely it will be raw. You will have to find the optimal time for each pizza order depending on the size, crust, sauce, cheese and toppings. You can also upgrade your timer to increase its accuracy and reliability.
